DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-6 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Falcon, (US 6,993,615).

As per claims 1-6, Falcon teaches a vehicle media player unit, comprising:
a media player dock mounted inside a vehicle with media decoder, connector for removable cassette and interface to vehicle entertainment system, a removable cassette with a hard disc, connector to media player dock, USB/IDE bridge circuit and USB connector for updating information on a hard disc from computer. Falcon teaches a portable/removable vehicle media player (PDA, portable computer, etc.) unit with a USB interface having an internal hard drive. Falcon also teaches wherein the vehicle media player exchanges hard drive data with the vehicle's docking module. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill at Falcon would have been motivated to implement other types well-known bridge interfaces for communicating data stored on the vehicle media player's hard drive with the vehicle's docking module because doing so would expand the flexibility of Falcon's inventive concept.

Art Unit: 2182
